Coordinator Quincy Wong (https://directory.westernsydney.edu.au/search/name/Quincy Wong/)

Description This subject provides an examination of a range of major categories of psychopathology, including more typical presentations for psychological treatment and inter-professional indications and communication. Students will critically evaluate the common diagnostic systems of adult psychopathology, and examine the diagnostic criteria for a range of major psychopathology presentations. The subject will equip students with skills in the application of diagnostic and psychometric assessment of these psychological disorders and the ability to construct a case formulation with systemic and cultural considerations, including for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people to inform psychological treatment interventions. Students will also develop skills in discerning when, why and how to collaborate and communicate with multidisciplinary teams in inter-professional context.

Learning Outcomes

After successful completion of this subject, students will be able to:

1. Evaluate the history and characteristics of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (DSM) and International Classification of Diseases (ICD), and their strengths and limitations as classificatory systems of adult psychopathology (APAC GA: 3.16, 4.2.1i, 4.2.1iii & 4.2.2i).
2. Assess the diagnostic features and associated characteristics of major and comorbid psychological disorders and indications for inter-professional treatments, collaboration and communication. (APAC GA: 3.3, 3.4, 3.5, 3.8, 3.10, 3.11, 3.12, 4.2.1iii, 4.2.2ii, 4.2.2iii & 4.2.3iii).
3. Examine the current major theories of the aetiologies of these disorders, identify risk and resilience factors and apply these across the lifespan, and within a systemic and culturally informed framework, including for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. (APAC GA: 3.2, 4.2.1i & 4.2.1ii).
4. Perform a clinical diagnostic interview that assesses adult psychopathology to generate, communicate and reflect on provisional and differential diagnoses and case level formulation to inform treatment planning that takes into consideration systemic and cultural contexts (APAC GA: 3.3, 3.6, 3.14, 3.15 & 4.2.2iii).
