PERF 1010 Music Performance 1 (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1010/>) Legacy Code: 102553

In this subject, students will develop their performance skills through participating in three modularised workshops. The first two workshops will run in parallel with each other and will be rotated: module 1 will focus on improvisation; and module 2 will focus on (western or non-western) music from an oral tradition. Module 3 will then extend students' skills in reading and arranging music, utilising their preferred performing media (voice or instrument). In this third module, they will perform set technical tasks (such as scales and arpeggios) and, in groups, they will arrange and perform one set piece of music from a basic notated score, and they will choose, arrange and perform another piece. They will perform one piece chosen from modules 1, 2, or 3 in a public venue on campus. The subject will also introduce basic music business skills, such as how to advertise and mount a public performance.

Level: Undergraduate Level 1 subject

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1012/>) Legacy Code: 102554

Students will extend their performance skills acquired in Music Performance 1 through participating in three modularised workshops. The first two workshops will run in parallel with each other and will be rotated: module 1 will focus on free and notated improvisation; and module 2 will focus on choral performance. Module 3 will extend the skills of reading and arranging music in students' preferred performing media (voice or instrument). In this module, they will perform set technical tasks (such as scales and arpeggios), adding to the skills acquired in Music Performance 1 and, continuing to work in small groups, they will arrange and perform one set piece of music from a basic notated score, and choose, arrange and perform another piece that is different from the music performed in Music Performance 1. They will perform one piece chosen from modules 1, 2, or 3 in a public venue on campus. The subject will also introduce music business skills, such as how to publicise and mount a performance, and how to upload a sample of work to YouTube.

PERF 1014 Music Production (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1014/>) Legacy Code: 102558

This subject presents an overview of the basic concepts and applications of electronic and digital music production technology in current music and media arts practice. Students will learn the fundamentals of musical acoustics, stereo recording and mixing techniques, and they will be introduced to MIDI systems and sequencing. Technical concepts are contextualised within a survey of current music production practice.

PERF 1015 Music Theory Fundamentals (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1015/>) Legacy Code: 102564

This subject introduces basic theoretical knowledge such as scales, intervals, chords and progressions. It provides musicianship training in aural, reading and keyboard skills and an introduction to Finale software. Students will learn to analyse harmony and to compose melodies and simple chordal accompaniments in song and theme and variation forms. Keyboard and aural classes will build on the theoretical content presented in lectures.

PERF 1016 Popular Music Histories (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1016/>) Legacy Code: 102547

Students will explore some of the most significant trajectories of popular music of the last 100 years. Each week will look a different facet of popular music history, stretching from the stars of the early years of the recorded music industry to the development of electronic dance music. The subject will touch upon folk, jazz, blues, rock, soul, funk, pop, disco, metal, punk, and hip hop to offer a necessarily incomplete tapestry of music scenes, chains of influence, and theories on the points of origin of styles and genres. Indigenous Australian artists are included in this historical survey. Concepts that will be investigated include the relationship of recording and dissemination technologies with popular music creation; the notion of a "mainstream" and its margins; and the idea of a grand narrative of popular music history, including the problems of canonicity.

PERF 1023 Western Art Music History (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1023/>) Legacy Code: 102546

This subject explores a range of musical works, styles, genres and composers from the Middle Ages to the twenty-first century. It shows how music evolved through the centuries, suggesting that stylistic changes are linked to innovative musical thinking on the one hand and conformity to established practices on the other. The subject asks how and why different genres and styles in different periods in western art music history come to the foreground while others recede into the background. Within a socio-historical context, the subject investigates the practices that produce musical innovation and considers how the various historical epochs have shaped our understanding of music. The subject includes some rudimentary music analysis and key terminologies and music vocabularies.

PERF 1026 Fundamentals of Acting and Theatre (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1026/>)

This subject introduces students to the fundamentals of drama and stagecraft, ideal for anyone interested in developing their performance skills and connecting with an audience. Through practical exercises, group discussions, scene practice and analysis, students will develop their acting abilities. They will explore the theoretical, practical and historical dimensions of drama, learning how voice, movement, acting techniques, and text combine to create compelling theatre. The subject helps build confidence, self-awareness and a solid foundation in drama. By the end, students will have gained valuable skills and knowledge, preparing them for more advanced drama studies or a lifelong interest in the performing arts.

PERF 1027 Drama Studio: Script and Scene (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1027/>)

In this subject, students develop proficiency in a key aspect of theatre-making: script and scene analysis. Working with Australian scripts that showcase diverse characters and stories, students will learn to identify the meanings, emotional and cultural contexts, and character motivations of a scene. Utilising a range of intercultural acting and performance techniques, they will learn to convey these elements on stage. Students will also advance their ability to provide and receive constructive feedback, promoting a collaborative and supportive creative environment. The subject provides a solid foundation for crafting and producing impactful and engaging performances, and is ideal for aspiring drama teachers, practitioners, and anyone interested in creative practices.

PERF 1028 Voice and Movement Foundations (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1028/>)

Voice and Movement Foundations explores essential vocal and movement training for the professional actor. Students will develop theoretical knowledge and practical skills in both voice and movement, cultivating an understanding of the vocal process and techniques to achieve vocal dexterity and effective expression. Students will explore a range of movement modalities while developing awareness of personal physical alignment, centring, and transformation. The subject emphasises the vital connection between voice and body, introduces fundamental acting techniques, and nurtures creativity and imagination within an acting ensemble.

PERF 1029 Acting Foundations (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1029/>)

Acting Foundations will explore the actor's ability to physically transform and use the application of the animal process (a technique where actors study and copy animal movements and behaviours) as a working tool for understanding and expressing inner character for acting performance. Students will recreate the physical and emotional life of the animal, identify physical habits and comfort zones that limit or pre-determine an actor's ability, and work from impulse rather than from pre-determined outcomes. Students will examine the use of the mask; a device used throughout history to represent characters in theatrical performances. They will also explore the fundamentals of improvisation as a theatrical form and rehearsal technique, expressing impulses with spontaneity, exploring characters, and developing the facility to tell an engaging story.

PERF 1030 Acting in Ensemble: Core Skills and Practices (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1030/>)

This subject introduces core principles of drama practice and ensemble work, emphasising presence, responsiveness, and self-awareness as essential foundations for acting. Students will engage in practices that develop their creative and emotional capacities, including observation, deep listening and responding, ethical collaboration, and self-reflection. These processes cultivate the openness, sensitivity, and connection necessary for effective creative work that reflects Australia's diverse cultural landscape. Live theatre engagement with Australian texts, featuring Indigenous, multicultural, and diverse narratives, provides critical opportunities to reflect on and analyse professional performances. By exploring what it means to be fully present in creative practice, students will acquire skills that support both individual artistic growth and ensemble dynamics, laying the groundwork for sustained creative development.

PERF 1031 Voice, Movement and Impulse Exploration

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1031/>)

Voice, Movement, and Impulse Exploration advances vocal and movement training for the professional actor. Students develop breath control techniques while identifying and releasing restrictive vocal patterns. The subject deepens understanding of safe movement practices through self-observation and cultivates the physical neutrality needed for versatile performance. Movement disciplines may include yoga, pilates, and biomechanics. Through structured improvisation workshops, students learn to build scenes, respond to offers, explore character development, and express spontaneous ideas and impulses. The subject emphasises developing the actor's ability to craft engaging narratives and create compelling comic and dramatic moments through improvisation.

PERF 1032 Acting Unpacked (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1032/>)

In Acting Unpacked, students will develop skills to connect authentically with fellow performers through imaginative engagement of voice and body. The subject focuses on creating truthful performances within dramatic contexts while communicating stories with clarity and conviction. Classes will address the development of a personal acting process through exploration of quality dramatic texts and self-reflection. Students will gain skills in the analysis of text to bring the world of scenes and plays to life. This subject also covers fundamental stage movement principles, effective use of props and set elements, and the application of theatrical timing and conventions to enhance performance quality.

PERF 1033 Introduction to Performance Traditions and Theories (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1033/>)

This subject provides a comprehensive overview of theatre history and theory, centring Indigenous Australian storytelling and amplifying diverse cultural narratives from Australia, Europe, the Americas, and Asia. Weekly sessions focus on key moments from selected works to ground discussion and deepen understanding. The subject balances theoretical exploration with historical context through lectures, workshops, film screenings, and discussions with industry professionals representing Australia's multicultural theatre landscape. Students will have opportunities to engage with the professional theatre industry through strategic partnerships, attending rehearsals and performances that showcase the depth and diversity of contemporary theatre practice. These immersive experiences may occasionally be scheduled outside regular class hours, and are designed to bridge classroom learning with living performance traditions.

PERF 1034 Voice and Movement Behaviours (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1034/>)

Voice and Movement Behaviours builds upon foundational techniques, integrating a broader range of vocal and physical techniques and behaviours. Voice classes will focus on how the actor's voice can reveal the emotional, intellectual and psychological dynamics of text. Students will also continue to explore a variety of safe movement modalities to acquire a self-guided practice and develop a routine to assimilate body, mind and breath. Students will further explore mask work and address commedia dell'arte and other archetypes that have informed Western theatrical traditions since the Renaissance. Students will investigate the mask's physicality as a means to define character and achieve transformation. Classes within this subject will also focus on language as a key to understanding character, as well as its use to create dramatic action and atmosphere on stage, film and television.

PERF 1035 Acting with Script (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf1035/>)

Acting With Script introduces students to the foundations of acting through script analysis. Students will select a scene from a play to analyse, rehearse, and perform. They will develop a basic acting process: first, they'll examine their script to understand characters and relationships; then they'll practice bringing the scene to life with authentic emotions and purposeful movements; finally, they'll deliver a polished performance that effectively combines all theatrical elements. Students will learn valuable collaborative skills by working with peers and a director in rehearsals and learn how to effectively use the acting space. Additionally, this subject explores the history of performance. Students will research specific historical periods in theatre and transform this knowledge into creative classroom performances, connecting theoretical understanding with practical expression.

PERF 2004 Composition and Creativity (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf2004/>) Legacy Code: 102548

This subject provides students with a firm grasp of creative principles and practical experience in the range of compositional techniques and skills required as a composer within a range of commonly employed artistic media and genres (classical, world, popular and avant-garde styles). These skills will provide the basis for professional compositional activity. Students will cover creative and technical issues with reference to a wide range of genres to stimulate across boundary thinking towards personal voice within lectures and tutorials. Practical workshops using compositional principles through student improvisation within creative groups will provide sonic demonstration of compositional ideas. The assessments will include both notated scores and recordings (improvisations; one notated score), in keeping with the Internet distribution age.

PERF 2016 Music Group Performance (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf2016/>) Legacy Code: 102555

This subject replaces 101521- Collaboration and Live Music Performance. Through a series of lectures and workshops, students will pursue two main threads of practical study imperative to any working musician. The first is collaboration, which will be practised in workshops (with repertoire determined by lecturers) and probed in a written task. The second area of study is the development of a suite of onstage skills and strategies including physical gesture, audience communication and facility with musical equipment.

PERF 2017 Music and Wellbeing (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf2017/>) Legacy Code: 102248

This subject looks at the psychosocial importance of music to our wellbeing throughout our lives and during each day. Delivered in a lectorial format (lecture with practical activities throughout), the subject explores the relationship between music and the body, mind, emotions, mood, memory, communication and creativity from experimental studies through to practice-based evidence. This subject is not necessarily about performing music, although some music making will take place. Rather, it is focused on how music can improve our wellbeing throughout our lives. The ideas and approaches discussed are important across the humanities, the social sciences and the health sciences, as well as to musicians who are looking to use their music in the therapeutic context.

PERF 2023 The Composer-Performer (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf2023/>) Legacy Code: 101539

Students are required to both perform and compose in this subject. While students may choose to perform their own work, this subject also offers the opportunity for students to experience the particular challenges and rewards offered by the close collaboration entailed in both sides of the composer/performer interface. Each student will choose a balance of performance and composition tasks appropriate to her/his specific musical path. The subject presents basic compositional techniques and canvasses issues regarding the composer/performer relationship through a series of lectures, tutorials and workshops. Students will also continue to develop their event administration skills.

PERF 2028 World Music (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf2028/>) Legacy Code: 102762

This subject examines music from diverse cultures, such as African, Latin American, Middle Eastern, Asian, and the Australia-Oceania region, focusing on the performance, production, and transmission of contemporary fusion music. It explores the cultural-political ways in which the West represents world music as a commodity and considers how the music is inflected with notions of identity, modernity, globalisation, displacement and migration. It charts the ways in which, as a social practice, world music engages politics to promote change, giving voice to marginalised groups. Students will have the opportunity to perform selected rhythms from different cultures. Additionally, they will learn elements of music theory that pertain to the cultures studied in the subject.

PERF 2029 Music Multimedia Project (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf2029/>) Legacy Code: 102855

In small groups, students will develop a creative music/sound and multimedia project. The multimedia aspects can include any subset of video, art, text, lighting, digital technology, installations, sound spatialisation, and algorithmic sound/music generation. Students will learn how to integrate music and sound with multimedia; develop their skills in audio and video software; and create interactions between software and hardware devices. Students will gain experience in collaborating on a creative project and contextualising and promoting their work within a broader cultural and intercultural context. Students will be exposed to ways in which music multimedia is used in professional contexts such as web-design, public art, and music software development. The teaching material comprises pre-recorded lectures and guided workshops undertaken on campus.

PERF 3009 Music Research Methods (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf3009/>) Legacy Code: 102429

This capstone musicology subject will consolidate approaches to research transferable to a variety of music careers and post-graduate study. Students will learn to critique various methods, considering their strengths, weaknesses and appropriateness to a self-devised research project. Delivered in a workshop format, each week students will consider a method or aspect thereof and develop skills in pursuing these towards their research outcome. Methods canvassed in the subject include practice-led research, where creative practice can be both the starting point and the research outcome; primary research (where the researcher gathers information from interviews, surveys and so on), music science (cognition and computation); ethics in research; identifying appropriate fields of research; and quantitative and qualitative methods.

PERF 3014 Music and Critical Thought (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf3014/>) Legacy Code: 102573

Music and Critical Thought considers definitions of music and how music is constituted. It asks how we encounter and experience music, and what makes a piece of music aesthetically pleasing and who decides. It asks whether the meanings attributed to music are as much intrinsic as they are cultural. The subject considers emotions and feelings in music, and why we would listen to music if it makes us feel sad. When music is used as an instrument of torture is it still music? How do we view the composer in the musical work? Where does creativity reside in a musical work? Is there a difference between musical thinking and thinking about music? Is music representational or immanent or both? Is music political? The subject provides an historical overview of the important debates and considers the poststructuralist critique of these debates. Students will design a question chosen from the topics covered in the subject, and retrieve and critically evaluate the appropriate literature for their project.

PERF 3022 Screen Media Composition (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf3022/>) Legacy Code: 102563

This subject is the final stage in the Composition and Music Production sub-major sequences. The subject is also available to Media Arts Production and Creative Industries students. The subject aims to prepare students creatively and technically to undertake self-directed sound composition projects for screen media. The areas to be examined include: sound studio techniques, mix processing for sound recording and screen media, an introduction to surround audio techniques, sound composition (score-based and/or soundscape) for screen, film spotting for sound, audio-visual interactions, and professional communication/pitching of sound composition proposals. Each student produces a complete sound-composition for screen package including sound composition, sound recording, screen media product (including film), and promotional documentation and samples.

PERF 3023 Songwriting and Composer Collaborations (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf3023/>) Legacy Code: 102549

This subject extends on the creative principles and practical experience in the range of compositional techniques and skills in the preceding subject Composition and Creativity. It will have two focuses: songwriting in both popular and art-music traditions to allow for the exploration of lyrics/texts; and composer collaborations with large scores for film, photography and dance. Students will work in a wide variety of commonly-employed artistic media and genres at a higher level than in the preceding subject. They will acquire the ability to write for larger instrumental combinations in cross-artform collaborations and songwriting skills. Practical workshops using compositional principles through student improvisation within creative groups will provide sonic demonstration of compositional ideas in relation to songwriting and other media. The assessments will include both notated scores (with visual media options) and recordings (improvisation; one notated score), in keeping with the Internet distribution age.

PERF 3028 Expanded Performance (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf3028/>) Legacy Code: 102856

In small groups, students will plan, prepare, and perform a substantial artistically and technically challenging live performance project. Students' performance practices will be expanded by integrating any thematically linked subset of software, hardware (controllers and synths), video and other multimedia, stagecraft, lighting, spatialisation, algorithms, theory, and improvisation. Students will learn how to integrate music and sound with multimedia and technology; develop their skills in digital audio software and interactive technology; gain experience of working collaboratively on a creative project; and contextualise their work within a broader cultural context. The teaching material comprises lectures and guided workshops, which are undertaken on campus.

PERF 3029 Intercultural Music Project (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf3029/>) Legacy Code: 102857

In this capstone subject students collaboratively research and create an intercultural music performance, incorporating Diaspora and Indigenous (Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples) Australian musics and their interaction with global intercultural music perspectives. Collaboration may include musicians from diverse communities in relation to the UN cultural diversity mandate. Activities such as performance, composition, arranging, sound engineering, music administration and other industry-related work will occur in integrated learning contexts and/or placement opportunities that have practical creative or project management outcomes. This subject provides training in music business and personal branding towards creating visibility of cultures and personal creative identity, and it allows students to work as individuals or in groups to build on skills and knowledge developed through their degree.

PERF 3030 Performing as a Professional Musician (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf3030/>) Legacy Code: 102859

Performance as a Professional Musician builds upon preceding subjects in the Performance sub-major to equip students for performance opportunities in real-world environments. Subject matter canvassed includes arrangement and interpretation, real-world writing about performance, stagecraft and event production. With the guidance of the subject coordinator/tutors, vetted through a professional project proposal process, students will prepare and mount a 30-minute performance project as featured performer. The type of repertoire, instrumentation and personnel will be up to the student and will reflect acquired strengths and aspirations. Through a workshop process, students will be encouraged to refine their performance and to further develop their capacity to give colleagues measured and constructive feedback. Short written tasks reflect real-world expectations of the professional musician in the form of project proposal, program note and festival pitch.

PERF 3032 Music and Cultural Frameworks (10 Credit Points)

Subject Details (<https://hbook.westernsydney.edu.au/subject-details/perf3032/>)

The cultural frameworks of this subject's title are both the lenses through which we receive and critique music (gender, class, postcolonialism, sexuality, power etc) and the various types of writing through which we perform these critiques. Through this subject, students will be immersed in literature that engages with music through those big lenses, but will also consider various types of writing. Journal articles, conference papers, liner notes, program notes and reviews each do a distinct kind of cultural work. The assessment tasks will enable students to think about their subject positions and develop both their cultural engagement and capacity to choose appropriate forms for their writing.
